

Marchers Protest Interviews by CIA

STATINTL

About 10 SDS members picketed in front of Read Hall yesterday morning to protest Central Intelligence Agency officials who are recruiting through the office of Dean of Students Jack Matthews.

"We are asking that the University not allow the CIA to interview on the campus any more," Michael Lattman, SDS president, said.

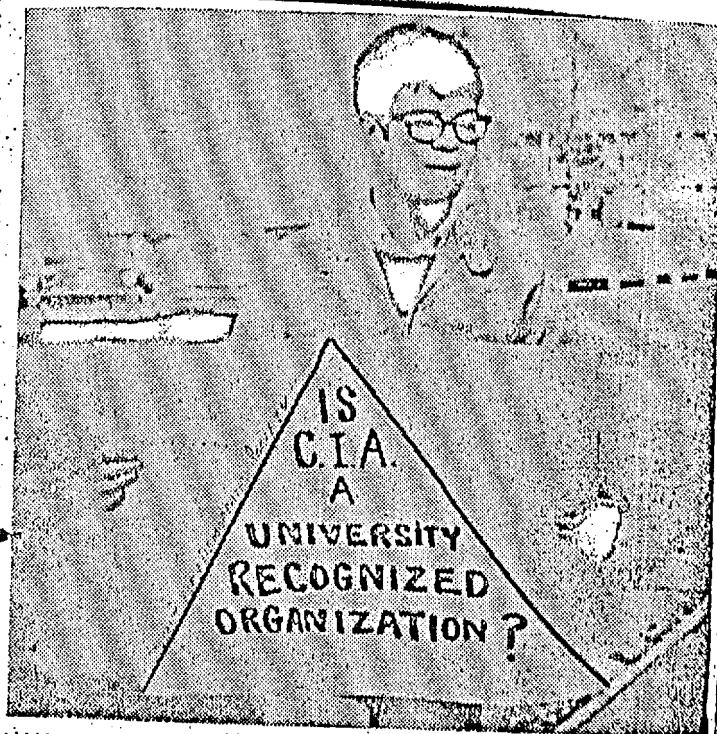

Matthews said the "University makes available opportunities for students to become acquainted with all kinds of employment opportunities in government services."

He cited the Peace Corps as an example and also noted that interviews for Hallmark Cards and Crossroads Africa have been handled through his office.

Lattman said about 15 members have signed for interviews with the CIA tomorrow to "confront" the interviewer with what they feel are the injustices of the organization.

"We are demonstrating to inform students of the undemocratic nature and structure of the CIA," Lattman said.

"We feel the CIA is one of the world's greatest forces in opposition to democratic government. It has overthrown many democracies and helped to create fascist states under the guise of anti-Communism," he said.
